GUEST SPEAKER DICK BROWN:

Date: 11/09/2009
Time: 7:00—9:00PM
Admission: $10.00

Location:
8 Point Sportsman's Club

A fly fisherman since he was a teen, Dick has stalked bonefish, permit, tarpon, snook, and other tropical saltwater species for over 30 years in the Bahamas, Caribbean, South America, and Florida Keys. He has fished extensively for Atlantic salmon in Canada's maritime provinces and for trout and steelhead in the American West and Northwest. Today, he and his wife, Carol Wright live on the north shore of Massachusetts where they chase striped bass, bluefish, and other inshore species in their boat, About Time, when they're not exploring bonefish flats to the south or salmon rivers to the north.

Admission includes Dick Brown's one hour power point presentation, dinner and a giveaway door prize of a copy of Brown's recently released new edition of his first book, Fly Fishing for Bonefish, as well as a box of the author's favorite flies.
